On
Residential Alteration Projects

- As the contractor on this project, it is your responsibility to request all inspections required for the completion of the job.

- On several occasions when an inspection has been requested by the contractor, the homeowner is completely unaware of this request. The inspectors, on many occasions, have arrived on the job and no one is home or if someone is home, they are not expecting the inspector.

- It is your responsibility to notify the property owner of the requested inspection and the approximate time frame of that inspection.
